

Higher Education and Leadership Studies Ed.D.

EDGEWOOD COLLEGE

The Higher Education and Leadership Studies Ed.D. is an online learning experience with optional in-person campus engagement. Much of the student learning happens during the required, synchronous online monthly class meetings (90 minutes) using video conferencing. These synchronous meetings occur on the second Saturday of each full month of the term. See below for specific dates.

Additional points of engagement for each class may happen online in small groups of students and faculty or 1:1 faculty to student at a meeting time determined by the group. Finally, each course contains online learning modules, feedback, and active participation by cohort members and faculty.
